

Stephanie E. Trpkov, MBA

Stephanie E. Trpkov is an experienced management consultant who works with policy makers in developing policies and institutions in support of innovation ecosystems, digital economy, smart cities, digital entrepreneurship, and private sector development.

She is also an advisor on change management, developing capacities for company and cluster-based innovation, and translating innovation programs into actionable strategies. Her career focus has been on international trade facilitation, business strategy/leadership alignment, organisational structure reform and team development.