

Daniel KOZELJ, Ph.D.

Daniel Kozelj is a Doctor of Science in the field of civil engineering and water supply. He started his career at the Faculty of Civil and Geodetic Engineering, where he collaborated on numerous international and domestic research projects and participated in lectures. In 2018, he got employed by Petrol, as head of product group Water cycle. As an expert from field of water supply systems, he attends numerous international conferences where he speaks and lectures on water supply system optimisations and potential of water cycle within local communities.