

UROŠ SALOBIR (Director of the Strategic Innovation Department, ELES, d.o.o.)

Uroš Salobir has been employed by the Slovenian transmission system operator ELES for more than 20 years. During this period he has mostly worked on internal, national- and international level management and coordination in the field of power system operations, electricity markets, infrastructure projects and technical information systems. He started with ELES's strategic innovation actions and was responsible for the implementation of some of the most challenging innovation projects in ELES's history and helped to establish Strategic Innovation Department that he is currently leading.

Uroš Salobir is also the Vice-Chairman of the ENTSO-E Research and Development Committee (RDIC).