

MATEJ ČER

Matej Čer is slovenian entrepreneur, lecturer and long-time mentor at diverse entrepreneurial programmes.

Eventhough he is a mechanical engineer with a degree about internal combustion engines, he soon became fascinated about the sustainability paradigm, electric mobility, sharing economy and opportunities it offers to the society.

His growing company Avant car is a modern mobility provider, that is more and more becoming a tech-company, developing the field of mobility as a service (MaaS). Among other projects the team has developed 100 % electric car sharing system Avant2Go that already runs more than 200 electric vehicles in 4 slovenian cities.

Matej is also an experienced investor who participates in development of local and global entrepreneurial stories. He is constantly in search for new opportunities for societal progress and as a mentor he shares his experiences and helps people fulfil their potentials.